

How can you stay up to date on The CropLife Foundation?

Http://twitter.com/CropLifeFdn

You can follow us on Twitter at CropLifeFdn. It is here you'll find the latest updates on Foundation activities, presentations, blog posts, and videos as well as daily notes, messages, and articles of interest straight from the research at CropLife Foundation.

http://www.croplifefoundation.org/benefit\_articles/index.html

Every week via the Crop Protection Benefit Article of the Week the Foundation will bring to your attention the best and most informative articles that we believe will help you understand and appreciate the role crop protection products play in our lives today. Topics range from agricultural innovation, the importance of crop protection products, the versatility today's farmer has with the tools offered by the industry, and more. The blog is updated every Wednesday but if you would like to have it e-mailed to you, contact the foundation at arinkus@croplifefoundation.org.

<http://www.youtube.com/user/TheCLFoundation>

Finally, the Foundation has its own YouTube page. It is here we will periodically post videos of presentations, project updates, and even footage directly from the fields of Africa as part of our African Herbicide project.